

FSES offers nationwide service to law firms and large companies requiring computer forensics and electronic discovery services as part of their investigations regarding Intellectual Property. The company can act on the behalf of the defendant, plaintiff, or as a special master neutral third party. We provide full life cycle services from internal investigations that may or may not end up in the courts through the entire trial process, to disposal of electronic evidence post-trial.

Because of our central location close to three international airport hubs as well as several regional airports and a National border, FSES is situated to respond quickly to any request across the country in a matter of hours. When you need formidable, experienced and dependable computer forensic services for your intellectual property matters, get the experts – FSES...when only the best will do.
